Workshop 1: “Rebuilding Collective Prosperity”

Stephen Boyd, Assistant Secretary, STUC

The STUC are campaigning for a new economic and social model, including investment in skills and training for workers, which can help repair the damage of economic recession, creating the conditions for a fairer and more sustainable future. This workshop will look at the challenges and opportunities unions will face over the coming months and what role ULRs can play in shaping a fairer and sustainable future.

Workshop 2: “Jobs for the Boys or Girls? Delivering equality as a ULR”

Emma Ritch, Project Manager, Close the Gap

Women and men do different types of work and have different skills. Some of these differences are because of discrimination. This workshop will give you information and tools to make sure your work as a ULR combats discrimination.

Workshop 3: “Qualifications, what’s in it for me?”

Graham Campbell, SQA Business Development Manager - Highlands & Islands

This workshop will look to explore vocational qualifications in the workplace identifying the benefits for the individual, the organisation and the wider community. Come along to find out more.
